General Comment

I am concerned about the effects of inflation on annuities. My pension annuity is via the PBGC, and has lost ground to inflation since I retired. What protection would this new annuity have from inflation? The PBGC pension has none, and inflation is causing a problem for me.

Can the central bank be prevented from printing away my pension/annuity? Can a COLA adjust be added to the new annuity (and the PBGC one). Inflation protection is my main concern with this new proposal.
